

Financial Institutions Bond & Commercial Crime Insurance

Crime-related losses, particularly those arising from employee dishonesty, have grown in recent years. Global expansion, mergers and acquisitions of financial institutions and technological development inevitably facilitate employee infidelity, fraud, theft, forgery and computer-related crime.

Banks and financial institutions are especially susceptible to such criminal activities and their effects can be devastating. Financial Institutions Bond Insurance (FI) protects financial institutions against crime-related losses resulting from:

- + Employee infidelity
- + Premises risk (loss or damage to property resulting from theft)
- + Cash in transit (loss of money on site or in transit)
- + Forgery or alteration of cheques and securities
- + Counterfeit currency
- + Damage to offices and content

Non-financial institutions, which include local and multinational commercial companies, may also suffer severe losses as a result of criminal activities. Commercial Crime Insurance is designed to safeguard businesses from such financial losses.

HCC Global Financial Products (HCC Global) specialises in customising comprehensive FI insurance and Commercial Crime insurance programmes to protect our clients against criminal actions committed by dishonest employees and/or third parties. Safeguarding both financial and non-financial institutions from the risk of crime-related losses is what we do.
